Three Boy Scouts become Eagle Scouts

■ Three Boy Scouts from the Tequesta District recently earned their Eagle Scout Awards.

Special to the Miami Herald

Three more South Florida Boy Scouts from the Tequesta District have received their Eagle awards in recent ceremonies.

Javier Molina, from Troop 870, which is chartered from Mother of Christ Catholic Church, 14141 SW 26th St., became an Eagle on Jan. 13. He is currently a junior at John A. Ferguson High and his goal is to obtain a college scholarship for football, to study law enforcement and become a police officer.

Javier's Eagle project entailed sending time and on his college plans but will pursue a career as a medical technician or pharmacist.

Anthony's Eagle project entailed building tables for nursery plants to be elevated for caring ease at The Deering Estate, 16701 SW 72nd Ave. The project's total man hours were 102.

His parents are Ricardo and Patricia Camejo and his scoutmaster is Tom Householder.

Josue Arevalo is from Troop 744, which is chartered by Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, 5291 NW 1st St. He became an Eagle on Feb. 10. He is a senior at the School for Advanced Studies, and upon graduation will pursue a degree in civil engineering. Sometime during his educational endeavors, he will be taking time off to do a charitable mission for his church yet to be assigned. He will be attending the University of Miami.

His Eagle project entailed building a long-needed award display case for his sponsor church. The project total man hours were 113.

His parents are Odalys and Avimael Arevalo. His scoutmaster is William Perez.
